1. Policy Purpose Statement

This policy defines the approvals that are necessary before Kennesaw State University (KSU) can enter into a contract and delegates limited authority to certain officials to execute contracts for the University.

2. Background

This policy ensures that the University’s contracts have been properly vetted before they are signed.

3. Scope (Who is Affected)

All components of the University and the University’s cooperative organizations.

4. Exclusions or Exceptions

Contracts to which neither the University nor its cooperative organizations are a party.

5. Definitions and Acronyms

Contract: A contract is any set of enforceable promises in which the University or one of its cooperative organizations is a party. It does not matter if a document is titled a contract, agreement, memorandum of understanding, letter of intent, or some other term. If the University will be bound by the document or if the University wishes to bind someone else to the document, it should be treated as a contract. The contract should contain the entire agreement between the University and the external party. There should be no additional verbal agreements or promises made outside of the contract.

Cooperative Organization: A cooperative organization is an entity that the President of the University has recognized as a cooperative organization, pursuant to the policies of the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia.

6. Policy

   a. Prior Review by the Contracts Office
All proposed contracts must be submitted to the University’s Contracts Office in the Office of Fiscal Services for review before they are signed. This applies to all contracts in which the University or a cooperative organization is a party, regardless of the funding source that will be used. The list of contracts that the Chief Financial Officer and General Counsel have identified as exempt from review by the University’s Contract Office is available online at https://fiscalservices.kennesaw.edu/docs/Contract_Compliance_Exemptions.pdf.

For contracts to which the University is a party, the Contracts Office must (1) ensure that the proposed contract is approved by all appropriate officials at the University; (2) ensure that the contract is signed by an official with appropriate authority; and (3) maintain a repository of all executed contracts, subject to applicable records retention guidelines.

For contracts to which a cooperative organization is a party and the University is not a party, the Contracts Office must (1) ensure that the proposed contract is reviewed by all appropriate officials at the University; (2) ensure that the University’s feedback is communicated to the cooperative organization; and (3) maintain a repository of all executed contracts, subject to applicable records retention guidelines. Each cooperative organization remains responsible for reviewing, approving, and executing contracts to which they are a party.

Subject to approval by the University’s Chief Legal Affairs Officer, the University’s Chief Financial Officer is authorized to (1) establish procedures governing the Contracts Office; (2) authorize contracting processes that are not subject to prior review by the Contracts Office; and (3) approve contract templates.

b. Delegation of Signature Authority

Attachment A lists the University officials who hold delegated authority to execute contracts on behalf of the University, subject to the limitations listed, and the policies of the University and the Board of Regents. The authority delegated via this policy cannot be further delegated to others. The official executing any contract is responsible for returning an original version or pdf version of each contract he/she executes to the Contracts Office for inclusion in the University’s repository. The value of a contract is viewed as the larger of either the University’s potential liability to the other party or the other party’s potential liability to the University. The Board of Regents reserves the authority to assign certain contracts to the Chancellor and the Board of Regents themselves, e.g., certain leases, major construction contracts, etc. In addition, certain purchases must be executed or approved by the Georgia Department of Administrative Services. The authority to execute contracts on behalf of a cooperative organization is defined by each cooperative organization. The President may delegate additional authority in writing to other University officials by updating Attachment A, the latest version of which shall be displayed on the Contracts Office website. Authority is also given to execute contracts and transactions using alternate contracting methods approved by the Chief Financial Officer, e.g., Purchasing Cards.
